Barrister-at-Law, C Secondly, It is simple in its construction, and can be made in detached parts, and easily conveyed to such places where the erections are most desirable to be fixed, as being; either contiguous to the places of exportation, or where the carriage will be least expensive to the inland consumers. Thirdly, The materials used in the construction will not be subject to great deterioration by wear and tear; the annual repairs, consequently, will be very trifling, and the operation continuous, being wholly free from those stoppages to which all saline evaporating works are now subject. It will only require persons of ordinary capacity to attend to the operation and general management, and can be repaired and...
