New World Library, 2013. Book Condition: New. Brand New, Unread Copy in Perfect Condition. A+ Customer Service! Summary: In 1979 Dr. Bernie Siegel, a successful surgeon, took a class from Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross that focused on the use of crayon drawings as part of the healing process, especially for patients facing life-threatening diseases such as cancer. The understanding of healing and medicine in North America would never be the same. And, without doubt, the way Bernie Siegel treated and related to patients changed drastically as he incorporated many techniques that were laughed at by the medical community. In fact, when he offered a free seminar about these techniques through his clinic, only a few people showed up, and he called these patients "exceptional." Soon, he formed a group called Exceptional Cancer Patients (ECaP) based on "carefrontation," a loving, therapeutic confrontation that facilitates personal change, both physically, mentally, and spiritually, and helps the patient and doctor treat all aspects of the patient's illness. The healing and miracles attracted attention, and today Bernie Siegel is one of the best-known and most beloved of all doctors, publishing his book Love, Medicine & Miracles and facing the scorn of the medical establishment along the way. Now, if Bernie Siegel offers a workshop, people come in droves. What Bernie discovered and began sharing with patients is the simple fact that our bodies are healing machines. Yes, they need help in the form of antibiotics, casts for broken bones, stitches for deep wounds, and surgery, radiation, and chemotherapy for cancer. But not always and not only. Our bodies know how to heal themselves, if we can sometimes get out of the way and other times get to the core of why we are sick, and other times if we can assist them with tools such as...
