The Precessional Constant, pp. 73 to 76.) For the convenience of the reader a table of constants is here given adapted for reducing a star-place given for 1900 to other dates preceding and following. Let a and δ be the right-ascension and declination whose values for the epoch T , are sought; a and δ the corresponding coordinates for 1900; p and p' the coordinates of proper-motion for 1900; r T -1900, in years. Then FORMULAS OF APPLICATION. PROPER-MOTIONS. The ninth and tenth columns on the left-hand pages give the proper-motion, p , in rightascension, and its centennial, or secular, variation, $100 \Delta p$, in units of the fourth decimal; correspondingly, the seventh and eighth columns on the righthand page give the proper-motion, p' , in declination, and its secular variation, $100 \Delta p'$, in units of the third decimal place. The proper-motions are derived by subtracting from the annual variations the precessions computed from Newcombs constants for 1900. They are: In the practical computation, Beckers tables (Vol. II, Strassburg Observations) or Downings tables for 1910 were employed. It did not seem necessary to print the computed precessions; they can readily be recovered for any star by subtracting the proper-motion from the annual variation. 100Δ and $100 \Delta p$ were computed by means of formulas (A) under Annual and Secular Variation, etc. in the foregoing. As already stated in the earlier part of this introduction, the ascertainment of proper-motions of the stars constituted the chief motive for the...
