Excerpt: . . . their instruction when contrasted with their former character, when the H school was opened, is beyond what I ever expected to witness from such children. Although efforts are being made to withdraw them from the school in a clandestine manner, the success in that direction has been but small hitherto. To-day, as I was making some calls, a person who was asking for some assistance after I had advised her to go to the Sisters of Charity, said to me, The Sisters have applied to the Society of St. Vincent for garments for the outside children who can attend their school, to preserve them from the proselytising carried on by heretics. There is no doubt but secret altar denunciations are thundered in the ears of the faithful, warning them to protect their children from the soupers and jumpers, as Protestants are called by the priesthood....

Reviews

Extensive information for book fans. It is written in basic words and never hard to understand. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
